YAYASAN MENDAKI COMMITTEE ON THE FUTURE ECONOMY DIALOGUE

Singapore must remain open and connected to the world, help its people acquire skills for jobs of the future, and ensure its companies scale up for a challenging climate through innovation and transformation.

The Straits Times
10 Feb 2017

In a challenging global climate with slow economic growth and increasing nationalistic approaches to policies, Singapore seeks to remain globally connected, seizing opportunities for higher growth through innovation and partnership. The Committee on the Future Economy's (CFE) seven strategies that outline Singapore's efforts to stay relevant will be discussed at Yayasan MENDAKI's Committee on the Future Economy Dialogue on Friday, 21 April 2017.

The dialogue session will highlight shifts in employment and education, and explore pathways for the community to leverage on in order to remain economically relevant.

Malay/Muslim Community Leaders and heads of organisations will engage in meaningful discussions that address the CFE strategies and the implications these measures have on the community within Singapore's context and that of the world.

Ms Mariam Jaafar, Partner and Managing Director of the Boston Consulting Group will be present during the dialogue session. As a member in the Committee on the Future Economy, Ms Mariam will be sharing her insights on the CFE strategies.
